

Dear Author,

Thank you for contacting TNG with regards to distributing your title. We deal with a number of major Canadian book publishers that carry subject matter similar to yours. As a result, we do not have enough space in the retailer's stores that we supply to carry several titles of the same interest. Many other issues, such as product tracking and the extensive terms and conditions that we require, prevent us from working directly with individuals.

We receive hundreds of requests from individual authors and suggest that you try contacting book marketing companies as they are better equipped to work with individuals such as yourself. We have provided the names of three such companies that we do deal with as a supplier. However, it is the decision of these companies to either accept or reject any requests made by authors.
